People v. Busjahn Farms, Inc. | 2011-CF-209 | Stephenson County | Bureau of Water (CAFO)

People v. Arlen Busjahn | 2011-CM-692 | Stephenson County | Bureau of Water (CAFO)

The above-named cases arose out of incident involving a rural Stephenson County dairy farm pumping liquid and semi-liquid wastewater from its waste pit/lagoon into a roadside ditch which served as a drainage conduit. A citizen complaint to local officials was referred to the Rockford Regional Office and an ensuing inspection revealed the facts of the violation. A subsequent Illinois State police investigation and referral to the Environmental Crimes Bureau of the Attorney General's Office resulted in the above-mentioned proceedings.

Pursuant to a negotiated disposition, guilty pleas were entered on both of the above-named cases on Wednesday, August 24, 2011, in the Circuit Court of Stephenson County, Freeport, Illinois. The corporate defendant pled guilty to a knowing discharge of a contaminant from a point source to waters of the State without an NPDES permit in violation of Section 44(j)(1)(A) of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act, a Class 4 felony. The individual defendant pled guilty to a negligent discharge of a contaminant from a point source to waters of the State without an NPDES permit, in violation of Section 44(j)(3)(A) of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act, a Class A misdemeanor.

The corporate defendant was sentenced to 12 months conditional discharge and ordered to pay a fine of $2,500.00 to Stephenson County, restitution to the Illinois EPA's Hazardous Waste Fund in the amount of $6,328.00, and Court costs in the amount of $1,172.00. The individual defendant was sentenced to 12 months court supervision and ordered to pay a fine of $2,500.00 to Stephenson County, restitution to the Illinois EPA's Hazardous Waste Fund in the amount of $6,398.00, and Court costs in the amount of $1,102.00. A sentence of Court Supervision will result in dismissal of the charge without a conviction if the defendant successfully completes the supervision period without violating any conditions of the order.

Since the occurrence, the Defendants have been fully cooperating and working with the Rockford Regional Office to address deficiencies in their waste management practices.

By mutual agreement, all subsequent reports will be filed every two months, with the next report due on November 15th. If you have any questions on these matters, please advise.
